B Major Hong Kong presents

The 2009 Flamenco Dance Masters Workshop with

Alicia Marquez

Alicia was born in Sevilla, Spain. At age 10, she started studying traditional Spanish dance at Matilde Coral's school and took Dramatic Arts in Sevilla's Conservatoire. She was in the movies, "Flamenco" and "Sevillanas", directed by Carlos Saura. Her professional career started when she became a member of Mario Maya's company, dancing in "Ritmo y Amor Brujo". In 1988, she worked at the 1988 Bial de Flamenco de Sevilla with Rafael Aguilar, and with Matilde Coral in "Homenaje a los Maestros". In 1992, she danced in "Azabache" with Manolo Marin, for the Sevilla Exposition.

In 1994, she incorporated La Compañía Andaluza de Danza, under Mario Maya's direction, taking part in two shows: "De lo Flamenco" and "Réquiem". In 1996, Alicia toured in "Suite Iberia" and "Tientos Tangos", both directed by Manolo Marin, and in "El perro Andaluz", directed by Maria Pages. In 1997, under José Antonio's direction, she danced in the opening show for the Teatro Real in Madrid in "La Vida Breve". In 1998, she danced in many shows for Compañía Andaluza, including "Cosas de Payo", by Javier Latorre, "Ramito de Locura", by Javier Barón, "Latido Flamenco", by Manolete, "Turina" and "Picasso", by José Antonio, and "Encuentro", directed by Alejandro Granados, Isabel Bayón, Eva la Yerbabuena and Rafael Campallo.

In 2000, she participated in the 2000 Bial de Flamenco de Sevilla, working with Fernando Romero, in his show "Bachdaliana". At the Zarzuela Theatre in Madrid, she danced as a soloist in "De la Noche" with Joaquin Grilo's company, and then she worked with Paco Pena's company, also as a soloist, in "Voces y Ecos" and "Flamenco Concert". While working in Compañía Andaluza in 2002, she had the pleasure to play the mother's role (la Madre) in Antonio Gade's "Bodas de Sangre". She presented her own show, "De la Memoria" at the Alhambra, in Granada, and in the Teatro Central de Sevilla during the 2003 Season of "Flamenco Viene del Sur", receiving high praise from the press!
